We must support Ukraine
much more vigorously.

AND let's get stuck into making the world a better place. Doing that would draw us together about a shared purpose and make us a happier nation.

We can't allow Russia's aggression against Ukraine to succeed. We should show ourselves to be a reliable friend of Ukraine and of democracy by creating a huge £100 billion (much less than we spent on the bankers) to fund our assistance until Russia chooses to live peaceably with the rest of us.

The sickness of British life – an answer.

The only answer to the aggression of Russia/China/North Korea/Iran on the world scene is for us - our nation - to become a humble influence for good in the world – working for the Common Good of the world's people. In the meantime we must defend our nation, our partners and the values we stand for. Being a nation like that would do us a power of good. We'd live like a family and work like a team. Kids could grow up excited about really useful things they could do in their adult life – drugs and knife crime would lose their hold. Something like this MUST be the answer to our current national malaise

Please vote for me to endorse my on-going campaigning. I have lots of specific policy targets.
